

2009 IFP/GeoJourney Mail Drop Locations

During the course of the eight-week summer program we will be able to receive mail in several locations (see below). Please copy and distribute this list freely, since once we get rolling you will occasionally yearn for contact with the outside world. In order to avoid mix-ups, it is important that senders carefully follow the instructions below.

Senders should plan for the arrival of mail to coincide with the dates listed below. Please allow 7 days for delivery, but not more than 14 days. Some Post Offices will return mail to sender if it has not been picked up within 10 days. When I pick up mail at one location, I will leave instructions for late arrivals to be forwarded to our next mail drop. However, it is not uncommon for late packages to follow us around the country, never get delivered to the intended student, and finally be returned to sender. Don't let this happen to you. Timing is everything. Also, DO NOT HAVE MAIL SENT TO YOU AT THE CAMPSITES. Most campgrounds are not equipped to deal with camper mail and there is no guarantee that undelivered packages will be returned to sender.

Please use the following format in addressing mail.

STUDENT or STAFF MEMBER'S NAME
c/o University of Georgia, IFP/GeoJourney
General Delivery
City, State, Zip Code

Note: Lines in bold type are the only ones that should be changed according to mail drop.

The Mail Drop Locations and Dates:

Santa Fe, NM 87501-9998	June 10, 2009
Grand Canyon, AZ 86023-5000	June 18, 2009
Mammoth Lakes, CA 93546-9997	June 24, 2009
Olema, CA 94950-8900	June 30, 2009
Battle Ground, WA 98604-9177	July 9, 2009
Loveland, CO 80537-9997	July 23, 2009