Maps of the four color-coded horizons. The dashed lines are contours, each representing a different elevation. Closer spacing of contours indicates steeper slope.